The KING's Most Excellent MAJESTY in Council.

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to cause his Majesty's Pleasure, hereby signified, to be duly complied with.

DUBLIN, July 23.

BY a Letter from the North, by Yesterday's Post we have an Account, that last Week 2000 of the Hearts of Oak, assembled in Dungannon, in order to murder Mr. ——, who appeared and swore to their Demands. The next Day all the County towards Caranteel, Aughnacloy, Trugh, and those Parts adjoining, assembled to a prodigious Number, and went to the House of Mr. ——, where there was a Party of the Army drawn up, but the Hearts of Oak not valuing that, marched on boldly, and at the Head of the Army met Mr. ——, and desired him to sign their Paper, and swear to the Contents therein, but he hesitating awhile one of their Captains presented a Gun at him, and swore he would shoot him dead, if he did not come to his Terms; on which he consented, and was sworn. This gave them so much Spirits, that they fired a Volley by Way of Triumph, which so frightened about 1000 of their Horse (that they had as a Corps de Reserve, and who imagined that the Army had fired at their Foot) that they immediately turned Tail, and the greatest Flight ever known was there, Horses falling, Men bruising, and running to hide in the Fields, Horses coming home without their Riders, Wives runing for the Corpses of their Husbands, and such like, was the Case.

Londonderry, July 24. Our City is become a City of Refuge, for there is scarce a Rector or Tythe Farmer within 40 Miles but what is come to us, for Fear of the People called Hearts of Oak. They are become so very numerous, that they are computed to be above 40,000. The main Body is now at Newtownstewart and Omagh, and there are several Parties gone to different Places in the Country. Our Mayor had two Letters from them this Day, posted in Strabane, telling him that they would pay him a Visit with 15000, and as they were informed he was putting the City in a Posture of Defence, they did not mean to come within Cannon Shot, but would surround the Town 'til he would send out the Clergy. Our Officers and Soldiers have been busy all this Afternoon, placing the Cannon where they will be most useful if there should be Occasion for them, but my Opinion is, they will not trouble us.

Monaghan, July 30. There has been another Engagement between the Oak Boys and a Troop of Horse in a most remarkable Place called Wasted-Bridge, in the County of Fermanagh, on the same Spot that King William's Army defeated King James's, with the Loss of 6000 of his Troops. Mr. Coote being informed that a great Number of Oak Boys were to assemble on Wednesday last between Red Hill and Wasted-Bridge, took a Troop with him from Clownish, a Corporal, and eight Soldiers, with several of his own Friends. They set out for Wasted-Bridge, and arrived there about Two in the Afternoon, when they were met by a great Number of Oak Boys, armed with different Weapons, and addressed himself in the most polite and humane Manner to the advanced Party as disperse, but they gainsaid; but upon the Appearance of the Troops they all dispersed and ran off, except about 100 of them; one of these was so rash as to fire a Shot, which was reserved by the Troops, who killed seven, and the rest ran away as fast as possible; but the Ground being marshy on each Side of the Road, the Horse could not pursue them, but the Foot followed very closely, wounded 14 of them, took about 30 Prisoners, and carried them to Carran Goal.

Armagh, July 30. John Rowe, Esq; who so remarkably signalized himself on the Landing of Thurot, has now at the Head of a Party of His's Light Dragoons, at 2 o'Clock in the Morning, surprized a Thousand Oak Boys, took the two Ringleaders or Captains, viz. Gish and William-son, Prisoners, and lodged them in Armagh Goal; the Engagement was very smart for some Time, but happily attended with dispersing them all.

Extract of a Letter from Col. Waddrington to the Earl of Hillsborough, dated Omagh, July 26.

"I take the Liberty to acquaint your Lordship, that last Night three Companies of the 68th Regiment, under the Direction of Dr. Knight, fired on a Body of the Hearts of Oak at Newtownstewart, they killed four, wounded seven or eight, and took 77 Prisoners; of the Prisoners 37 are sent to this Goal, and 40 to Londonderry. A great Captain of the Rioters, one Robinson, is amongst the killed."

Armagh, Aug. 3. The Hearts of Oak are now distressed as much as they were before exalted; they are hiding in Holes and Corners, and the Light Horse in pursuit of some of them every Night. There are five of them now in our Goal. I am informed that upwards of 80 have been indicted at our last Assizes, but who they are is a Secret until they are taken, so that every one who has been concerned in this unhappy Affair is afraid that they are of the Number of indicted Persons, and consequently obliged to fly; so that the Country is deserted by a great Part of its Inhabitants, and the Harvest in Danger of being lost; our Linen trade is likewise destroyed, as few Weavers are left in the Country.

August 16. We hear an Express arrived Yesterday from Dublin with an Account that the Oak-Boys were entirely dispersed by the prudent Management of the Nobility and principal Gentry of the several Counties, and were all gone home.

Extract of a Letter from Omagh, July 27.

"On Sunday the 24th, Dr. James Knight was told by Judge Scott, at Omagh, (as his Way from Derry to begin the North-West Circuit) that there was an absolute Necessity for his going to Newtownstewart, to prevent a Junction of the People of the Eight Parishes, who called themselves Hearts of Oak, that were to unite at Baltinyhill, near Newtownstewart, next Day, believed to amount to about 15,000 Men, armed with Guns, &c. They intended if their entire Union had succeeded, that Day to go to Strabane and Derry to some of several Gentlemen who were obliged to fly to Derry to save themselves from the Outrages they feared from them. Dr. Knight accordingly went with the Troops, and marched through Newtownstewart on the Road to Strabane, where a large Body was observed advancing on Horseback, with their Colours flying. On seeing the Troops they halted; the Troops kept advancing on, upon which they began to disperse. The Captain then ordered the Under Sheriff, Patrick Montgomery, Gent. with his Posse, to pursue them, consisting of John Crawford, of Newtownstewart, Esq; John Wallace, High Constable of the Barony of Dunnalk, and six others, all well mounted, who took the Man who held the Colours, and several of the rest, and entirely dispersed that Body. The Troops with their Prisoners, returned to Newtownstewart, in order to refresh themselves and secure the Prisoners. Before the former could be done, another large Body appeared on a Plain near Dr. Falkner's, amounting in upwards of 5000 Men. The Troops forded the River, and advanced towards them, on which they began to fly. The Sheriff and his Posse pursued them, and took in the former about 40 and several subsequent Pursuits, 77 Prisoners, with a Quantity of Arms of different Kinds. Captain Donaldson, with the Forces, always pushing up to support the Sheriff's Posse. This Body being entirely dispersed, are again returned to Newtownstewart.

Reports

steward. We had not been long there before we had certain Notice of a large Body advancing close to Town, on which Capt. Dundas immediately ordered the Troops To Arms: We marched, and came within Twenty Yards of them, in Number upwards of 5000; they stood and fired a Shot, which wounded one of the Soldiers in the Face; and from the Hedges Numbers of Stones were thrown at the Army; on which Dr. Knight ordered the Troops to fire, which Orders were accordingly obeyed. By the said Fire, there were Five killed, and a great many wounded. They immediately fled, on which Dr. Knight ordered the Firing to stop. The Troops pursued them for near a Mile. Capt. Dundas and the other Officers and Troops underwent great Fatigue, and behaved with the greatest Activity and Bravery. Dr. Knight and James Gledstanes, Esq; on the 24th, sent an Express to Col. Wedderburn, then in Duncannon, to march with his Party to replace the Troops taken from Omagh. He lost no time in marching thither; and upon his hearing there of the Engagement, leaving a proper Guard on the Baggage and Stores, came to our Assistance to Newtownlewart very early on the 26th. We hear from Derry, that two Companies of the 29th Regiment, who escorted 40 of the Prisoners, from Strabane to that Place, who were delivered over to them by two Companies of the 68th Regiment, under the Command of Capt. Munro, received the Thanks of the Town, and a Present of Fifteen Guineas to the Soldiers.

Extract of a private Letter from Hanover, dated August 1.

"You have, doubtless, heard that his Prussian Majesty has lately paid us a Visit in our Capital. As the Time of his coming was known, our Noblesse prepared for him a most elegant Breakfast, consisting of cold Ham, Chickens, &c. &c. his Majesty however declined tasting, and did not even get out of his Carriage while the Horses were changing, till Madam de Walmodan, (the Countess of Yarmouth) was introduced to him. He then quitted his Coach, and, after a few general Compliments about her Health, &c. had about a quarter of an Hour's private Conversation with her as they walked alone in the Gardens. Our Noblesse were not very well pleased with his Majesty's departing without accepting of their Treat; but they were about an Hour afterwards agreeably surprised by the Arrival of the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick, who, with great Good Nature, made a hearty Breakfast on what was provided for the Prussian King. The Prince of Brunswick is very amiable, and it is not our Fault if he does not think her Royal Highness the Princess Augusta the most agreeable and accomplished Woman in the Universe. We hear he will, e're long, be in England."

Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick arrived at Hanover the 7th Inst. from Holland, and was the next Day complimented by the Ministry, General Officers, and other Persons of Distinction. He dined at President de Munchausen's, and supped with the Countess of Yarmouth; after which there was a Ball which lasted till seven o'Clock in the Morning.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, Aug. 9.

"The People of this Country cannot help attending to the Warlike Preparations in several States, particularly those of the King of Prussia, who is enlisting Men every where. Some say, that this Prince arms in order to take Vengeance on England by marching Troops towards Hanover, if the British Court should persist in refusing to pay the Remainder of the Subsidy owing to him during the War. Others think that his Prussian Majesty only wishes his Forces only to be prepared in Case of any unforeseen Event, and particularly with a View to what may soon be expected from the ocklish State of a certain Prince's Health. The Encampment which his Prussian Majesty has ordered, was at first supposed to be only a Camp of Pleasure, but Orders being just now issued for all absent Officers to join their Regiments immediately, the Design of this Encampment, it is feared, will prove somewhat more than mere Pleasure."

LONDON, August 22.

Private Letters from Paris, by the last French Mail, advise, that it was strongly reported there that the Empress of Russia was confined, and her Son placed on the Throne.

Sunday Morning, about Ten, the Right Hon. Sir Charles Wyndham, Earl of Egremont, was seized with a third Fit of Apoplexy, and continued all Day speechless, and about Nine at Night expired. He was Baron of Cockermouth, and Baronet, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, Lord Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum of the County of Cumberland, and one of his Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council. He was Son of the late Sir William Wyndham, Bart. by Catherine, second Daughter of Charles, the great Duke of Somerset; and on the Death of his Father, in 1740, succeeded to the Title of Baronet. On the Death of his Uncle, Algernoon, Duke of Somerset, Feb. 2, 1750, he inherited the Title of Earl of Egremont. His Lordship married (March 12, 1751) Alicia Maria, Daughter of George Lord Carpenter, by whom he had Issue, George, now Earl of Egremont, born December 7, 1751, two other Sons, and three Daughters.

This noble Lord derives his Descent from Ailwardus, an eminent Saxon, who, soon after the Conquest, being possessed of Lands at Wymondham, now called Wyndham, in the County of Norfolk, assumed his Name from thence. George, the present Earl, is the third Earl of Egremont.

It is said that Lord Egremont will be succeeded, as Secretary for the Southern Department, by the Earl of Shelburne.

The Bankruptcies in Holland are estimated at Thirty-two Millions of Dutch Florins, at 2,566,000 l. Sterling, which is a great Blow upon the Bank of Amsterdam; and has also greatly affected that of Hamburgh, where great Care is taken to support the Bank Currency.

The Amsterdam Bank was established in 1609, much upon the Footing of the Banco of Venice, and is, properly speaking, a perpetual Cash for Traders. Its Fund has amounted to such prodigious Sums, as sometimes to have been computed at no less than 3000 Tons of Gold, valued at 100,000 Florins per Ton, amounting in the whole to near 42 Millions Sterling.

It is by this Bank that the City of Amsterdam upholds itself with so much Splendor; and, without disturbing the Liberty of Trade, makes itself Mistress of the greatest Part of the Money of its Inhabitants; for no Man conceives it a Diminution of his Wealth, for having his Substance in Bank.

The whole City is bound to make good the Money deposited in this Bank, and the Treasure is secured under four different Locks, the Keys of which are kept by four of the principal Magistrates.

St. Jago de la Vega, [in Jamaica], Sept. 17.

On Wednesday last, about two of the Clock in the Afternoon, the Magazine of FORT AUGUSTA, having upwards of 2500 Barrels of Gunpowder in it, was blown up. This melancholy Accident is believed to be occasioned by Lightning, which was observed to have flashed, attended with a loud Clap of Thunder, about the Instant of Time preceding the Explosion; the Doors of the Magazine being then shut. The Explosion was so great, that not one Stone of the Magazine or Foundation of it is to be seen, but the Ground where it was situated is so sunk as to form a large Pit, about ten or fifteen Feet deep, in which the Water is sprung up. The Violence of the Concussion was such, that it threw down the Officers Barracks, a fine new Brick Building, having Apartments for about fourteen Officers, and also the House for the Commander of the Fort, and the Earth was felt in this Town to shake in the same Manner as in a smart Earthquake. Capt. Talbot, Capt. Lieut. Dunbar, and Ensign Keating, of the 43d Regiment, were killed, and found buried in the Ruins of the Barracks, several of the Soldiers quartered there, and other People, were also killed, to the Number of 30, besides Negroes, and many others were wounded; so that 'tis computed the Number of killed, wounded and missing, amounts to near 100. The Damage sustained by this Accident is computed to be near 25 or 30,000 l. besides the Loss of the Powder. Very providentially the Colonel and several other Officers happened on that Day to be at Port Royal, draughting Men from the 74th Regiment for the 43d, by which Means they happily escaped.

Edinburgh, Aug. 20. All the Marine Officers, at present in Scotland, have received Orders from the Admiralty, to repair to London immediately. The Officers belonging to several marching Regiments, absent upon Furlow, have likewise got Orders to join their Regiments without Delay. Several of their Gentlemen have accordingly set out, and the others are preparing to follow them as fast as possible.
